My experience at LNMC has truly been enthralling so far. The experiences and exposure that has been provided is truly worth mentioning. I've enjoyed the campus life, the dedicated teachers, the set up and most of all, the extra-curricular opportunities that come along with all the academics. The faculty is really supportive and are always available to assist, which is a huge relief especially considering how confused first year students are. The admin is really friendly and that creates a very amiable and comfortable environment for all of us to adjust in. All in all, it has been a fulfilling experience so far and I cannot wait to see what else my 5 year journey holds for me in this place.

Before finalizing my admission at Liaquat National Medical College I had received emails from other well known medical universities / colleges as well, but I chose Liaquat National over them. As Liaquat National Medical College has an excellent environment for learning and the administration itself also makes sure that the students learn. The professors are very friendly and open towards us, making our lectures with them both interactive and fun. We as students are able to understand and grasp the concepts easily due to their excellent teaching. Not only are the teachers and admin open with us in regards to educational matters but also any personal issues if we face they are always ready to help us regardless.

The system is so set up that it makes sure we do not get distracted from our studies and keeps watch over our progress, which is very important and something that most institutes lack. Apart from studying, LNMC also makes sure that we continue and not abandon our passions and hobbies, and holds events where we can all express ourselves through our interests, be it singing, poetry or art.

Being part of this prestigious medical college, where students not only enhance their educational skills but also learn to deal every aspects of life. Liaquat National Medical College has always been my first priority in private colleges/universities. Here the students can freely meet and talk with faculty and staff. This helps to create an excellent atmosphere for all of us. Before coming here, there were various different thoughts in my mind regarding this institution but after spending almost one year, this place has become a home and I feel extremely comfortable spending half of my day here. I'm looking forward to spend the rest of my 5 years here with professionalism and dedication.

The excruciating pressure a pre-medical student goes through their entire life is beyond comprehension, and yes I am the “been-there-done-that” individual. I started my first year here in LNMC after a long and difficult gap year and I for one can vouch for the fact that getting an admission here rejuvenated my passion for medical and my personality. The facade of this medical college is very professional and not only that, the atmosphere is very encouraging too. It urges us to become the better versions of ourselves as doctors. It has challenged me academically in every possible way which is a mandatory part of a medical college. I thoroughly enjoyed all the modules. The professors are very cooperative and highly professional. Let’s not forget the serenity of the outdoors. Will be here for the next 4 years and I have no regrets.

I am Ikhlas Ahmed, from the batch of 2024. I have spent a year at Liaquat National Medical College so far and it has been amazing. Liaquat National Medical College was first on my priority list for admission and I am extremely happy and proud of my decision. I have learnt a lot in this short period.

The environment at LNMC is exemplary. The Faculty is well-qualified and not only that, they are very caring, supporting and appreciating. They have a very good regard for their students and always welcome them to ask questions and to clear their doubts, irrespective of the boundaries of classroom. The admin here is professional and student friendly. I have experienced that this college has the capability and will to motivate my ambition to become a successful Doctor with the passion to serve my duties towards the ailing humanity. The friends I have got here and the strong bond that I have developed with my fellows, teachers and facilitators here will InshaAllah last forever.

Last year, I chose LNMC as my first pick. Then, the decision was solely based on it being ranked first in the private sector, but as my first year comes to an end, I’ve realized it was much more than just a rank - it was about the solid foundation that LNMC carves for us and the students before us.

Here, I’ve realized the true meaning of support. Professors are willing to help you during college hours and are active on online forums where they can help you after college hours too.

LNMC not only prepares you for your in-board exams, but guides you every step of the way according to your future aims, be it USMLE, FCPS or PLAB.

The multiple societies help shape your CV, from researches to sports to arranging blood drives.

Not to mention the safe environment. The 8am-4pm stay at Liaquat passes by in no time. Safe to say that the people have begun to feel like family and the college like home. I'm glad I chose LNMC for my 5 year journey of MBBS.

LNMC has proven to be top priority for students seeking admission in MBBS program in the Private sector. In little more than a decade after it's inception, LNMC has become a well renowned name in medical education. I consider myself fortunate to be a part of this institute. The student-teacher relation at LNMC is quite exemplary. The faculty and Administration always takes into consideration the students' opinion on academic and extracurricular affairs. Furthermore, the mentorship program has proven very effective in rectifying any issues students face. Students are able to evaluate the faculty members through feedback forms. The college spares no effort to facilitate their students. We enjoy access to various amenities, most notably the state of the art and fully equipped laboratories, a well-stocked library and various recreational facilities. The fact that the college strives to set the bar even higher is praiseworthy.

I am a 3rd year student at Liaquat National Medical College. I am fortunate enough to be studying at this very prestigious institute which is recognized as No. 1. This place has given me what every educational institute should aim to give; quality education, supporting teachers, amazing friends and memories to cherish. It has made me a new person on the whole, made me more confident and helped me explore my talents.

The academic environment is supportive and encouraging. Group discussions, TBL, CBL and various other activities are arranged for students to keep them engaged. The faculty and staff is very cooperative. The college has strict discipline in attendance, sports, and extracurricular activities! But ensures that students are exposed to amazing events too. An interesting students' week and an exciting sports week is held to provide us with a chance to exhibit our reciting, acting, singing and sports talents. Career counselling and various other workshops are conducted to provide us with the insight to make the right decision for our future.

In the end I pray to Almighty Allah for the progress and prosperity of this institution and success of all my friends.

I came to Liaquat National Medical College as a very different person from who I am today. Since the first year we are taught with very different methods from the rest of our 12 years of schooling. Team Based Learning was introduced in which we solved problems with our team mates and the faculty helps us. It not only boosted my confidence but also my social skills. After lectures on a topic, we are given tutorial sessions in which we can interact with the teachers more easily and discuss the topics. The sports week and extra-curricular week here allows students to discover and show their talents thus there is an amazing balance in curriculum and extracurricular activities. I have been a part of Liaquat National Medical College for about 3 years and it has helped me groom professionally and socially.

Choosing LNMC was a tough decision. When I came to Liaquat National Hospital I found the environment of the college & hospital to be brilliant. I liked how the college was built within the Hospital boundaries and accessing the clinical side was much easier than any other med school I had seen.

I've now been here for about 2.5 years and I never regretted my decision. We have an amazing clinical exposure. The faculty is very helpful and the best thing is the library which is open till 11am and opens all 7 days of the week. The MD and director administration keep visiting the college to ask students their problems and actions is taken as soon as possible to resolve their problems. LNMC turned out to be much better than what I had expected and I'm still glad that I'm a part of this institution.

LNMC is a very welcoming place, and from the first day, I felt at home here. LNMC is extremely balanced because it makes a student excel in academics, sports, and campus life. The advantage of hospital situated next to campus allows every student to get the best clinical exposure. Faculty here is very enthusiastic and with the mentorship program they're always within the reach. With all of the facilities, LNMC library is one of the best. It's very well managed with all the books one need to transcend in clinical studies. Significance of medical research is well known by the management and faculty. Curriculum is designed to promote research and enables many students to publish undergraduate research papers. With all the resources this prestigious institute has to offer and a dedicated faculty, I was able to secure top position. This institution not only prepare students for local exams but also develops clinical skills required to excel in aboard and future endeavours.

“It is more than just an educational institute; it is home.” Whenever someone asks me about my experience at Liaquat National Medical College, it fills me with up with pride to be associated with an institute which has not only helped me excel in academics but also groomed me to become a better individual. I still remember my first year at college; I was terrified because I was always told about how hard it is to survive medical school, but I can, very proudly, say that getting into LNMC helped me clear all my doubts.

The faculty at LNMC is highly qualified and all the teachers that I came across did not only help me achieve good grades, but also served as mentors who inspired me to become a good doctor. It was here that I was taught the nobility of my profession which increased my passion for this life saving profession even more. The homely environment, co-operative seniors and dedicating teachers endorsed my choice. Here, at LNMC, I learned how to create a balance between academics and extra curriculums. LNMC provided me a platform to showcase my talents in different arenas; be it sports, art, music, or any other.

It is a privilege to be a part of an institution like Liaquat National Medical College which provides a nurturing environment for education and growth.

I can't possibly speak of my experience here at LNH&MC without speaking of the memories I made here in the span of 3 and a half years. I'll forever carry them with me wherever I go. The amazing people I met, the friends I made and the invaluable lessons I have learnt, will always be something I cherish forever. You'll come here as a freshman one day, unsure of where a department is and before you know it, you'll be guiding people to OPDs. The Pergola, the Library and the Corridor outside will all hold uncountable memories of laughter and last minute cramming sessions when you thought you'd fail. Whether it's Dr. Atika Sher's friendly lectures or Dr. Shaheena Akbani's enthusiastic smile, you will soon find a home here. The faculty and the admin have always been extremely helpful. Even in the middle of this pandemic, they're just an email away and will always respond to the best of their abilities. Med school isn't easy, it's not meant to be but LNMC's faculty and your friends will make sure you get through it.

In a year I'll be graduating from medical school. I've spent a lot of time reflecting about what I've learned and how I've improved in the last five years. This takes me back to the first year when we all came here as complete strangers and what got us close was the continues lectures, lab practical session and tutorials. Well the most interesting part was how we all waited for the year end annual dinner in which position holders were awarded and the concert too. The thing that kept us physically active was sports week every year. LNMC also taught me a lot about adaptability as the Clinical rotations required learning a new subject and workflow which helped me experience human connection and personal growth. The thing I will miss the most about LNMC is the cooperative admin and helpful teachers. Everyone treated me like a family and responded to my queries whenever I needed.

I wish I had more time so that I could make more memories in this place I call my second home but I will cherish each and every moment I've spent here.

NASHIT IRFAN AZIZ

Final Year, MC/2021/071

The 5 year journey at LNMC has come with its own challenges and moments of laughter but most importantly it has been the scaffold for self growth and reflection. That has only been possible due to the close knit ties with our admin, faculty, mentors, and management, who have always gone out of their way to support their students. Personally, I feel the learning opportunities and curves I have had at my medical college, would not have been possible elsewhere. When I started here, little did I know how with time I would grow so attached to everyone in this community. Waking up early morning, to be greeted in the labyrinth, scattered with students and teachers, is something every graduate certainly misses here. But perhaps, its more of the fact that I could run up to anyone here to help me figure out a problem, academic or otherwise, that I feel even more emotionally invested. It gave me the confidence to take initiatives in so many dynamics, whether as a student or a leader or a team participant. To name a few things at the top of my head, I think having the chance of being able to pursue electives internationally, be an active part of several societies, initiating a research project, and even joining the administration and management into building this place further up, have been a few fleets conquered; here's to LNMC, the platform of reshaping and contouring an individual in excellence.
